

GAME DEALERS.
 M'Culloch, W. L., Main street
 Stewart, Bros., Main street

GRAIN AND GENERAL MERCHANTS.
 Rankin, John, Cloughorr
 Leek, George, Magilligan and Portrush Hotel
 Stewart Bros., Main street
 Golf clubmaker—John Aitken, Main street and clubhouse

GROCCERS.
 Bamford, John, & Son, Main street
 Bothwell, D., Bath street
 Bradley, Mrs., Causeway street
 Campbell, Mrs., Causeway street
 Kelly, A., Causeway street
 Lynn, J., Main street
 M'Culloch, W. L., Main street
 M'Fadden, J., Main street
 Sandford, James, Main street and Quay Head
 Scott, Alfred C., Main street
 Shaw, Allen, & Son, Main street
 Shiells & Co., City Stores, Main street
 Sneddan, James, Harbour view
 Stewart, Bros., Main st, provision merchts

IRONMONGER.
 M'Candless, John, Main street.

HOTELS.
 Alexandra—11, 12 Lansdowne crescent—Mrs. Dunseath and Miss Dobbin
BRAESIDE HOTEL—Mrs. W. L. M'Culloch, Bath Street
 Central Hotel—Messrs. Hamilton & Co.
 Dunard—Lansdowne crescent—Mrs. Davies (Under Scotch Management)
 Golf Hotel—Basil M'Crea, proprietor
EGLINTON HOTEL—H. G. Bower, Manager
 Lancashire Temperance Hotel—Mrs. Taylor, Causeway street
LANSDOWNE TEMPERANCE HOTEL—The Misses Hill
 Lloyd's Commercial Temperance Hotel, Kerr street
LONDONDERRY HOTEL—W. Markland, Main Street
NORTHERN COUNTIES—Mr. Cox, Manager
 Osborne Hotel—Mrs. Hurst
 Portrush Hotel—George Leeke
 Railway Hotel—P. Bradley
 Ramore Hotel—Mr. M'Nally
 Temperance Hotel—Wm. Ballentine Mervue
VICTORIA HOTEL—J. O'Kane, Kerr street
 Windsor Hotel—Messrs. Hamilton & Co.
 York Hotel—Mrs. Watt

HOUSE AGENTS.
 Scott, A. C., Main street
 Sheills & Co., Main street

INSURANCE AGENTS.
ENGLISH AND SCOTTISH LAW LIFE OFFICE—Agents, Wm. Holmes, Belfast Bank; J. Bamford, Merchant; R. J. Woodrow, Windsor Cottage, Causeway Street
PHENIX FIRE OFFICE—Agents, John Bamford, Merchant; Robert J. Woodrow, Windsor Cottage, Causeway Street
SUN FIRE AND LIFE OFFICES—Agent, Wm. J. M'Murray, Belfast Bank
 Bamford, J., Main street

Caldwell, J. C. (Marine), Mark st and Quay
 Hetherington, J., Main street
 Scott, A. C., Main street
 Sheills & Co., Main street

OWNER OF SALMON FISHERY
 The Earl of Antrim; manager, Robt. Gregg

HAIRDRESSERS.
 J. Macrory, Main street
 L. B. Rohdich, Main street

FURNISHED APARTMENTS.
 Adams, Miss, Mark st
 Allely, Mrs. Springhill
 Allen, Samuel, Railway place
 Arrot, Miss, Eglinton terrace
 Carson, Miss, Bath terrace
 Christie, Mrs. Mark street
 Dixon, Mrs., Mark street
 Dodds, Mrs., Bayview
 Douglas, R., Kerr street
 Dripps, Miss, Mark st
 Esdale, Mrs., Lansdowne Crescent
FARREN, MRS. M., Kerr Street
 Fleming, Miss, Lansdowne crescent
 Houston, Miss, Springhill
 Jackson, Mrs., Kerr street
 Kelly, James, builder, &c., Springhill
 Kerr, C., Avondale, Springfield
 Kerr, The Misses, Mark street
 Knox, Miss, Mark st
 Lindsay, David, Mount Royal
 Logan, Mrs., Kerr street
 Lyons, R., Mark st
 Macbeth, Mrs., Mervue
 Magee, Mrs., Bazaar st
 Marine Boarding House, Kerr street—Miss Lindsay
 M'Conaghey, Miss, Mark street
 M'Kay, M., Victoria terrace, Springfield
 Orr, Miss, Victoria terrace
 Rea, Miss, Eglinton street
 Simmons, Miss, Kerr street
 Sloan, Miss, Alexandra place.
 Smith, Miss, Avondale, Springhill
 Stewart, Miss, Kerr street
 Wilson, Miss, Railway terrace.

NEWSAGENTS.
 Eason, Charles, & Son, Ltd., Railway Station
 Sheills, John, & Co., Church street,
 Woods, Miss, bookseller, stationer, photographer, Main Street

PAINTERS.
 Baxter, J. & D., Eglinton terrace
 Farren, Wm., Main street
 M'Candless, Robert, Railway terrace

PHOTOGRAPHERS.
 Lee & Co., Lansdowne crescent
 Woods, Miss, Main street

PILOTS.
 Mann, William, Ramore place.
 Martin, James, Garden court
 Martin, Thomas, Prince's terrace

POSTING ESTABLISHMENTS.
 Allen, James, Railway place.
 Fisher, Joseph, Mark street
 Hamill, M. J., Causeway street
 Hunter, James, Bath terrace
 M'Aloney, James, Causeway street

M'Cormick, Denis, Main street
 M'Neil, Wm., Eglinton street
 Northern Counties Hotel
 Peden, John, Dunluce street
 Thompson, James, Causeway street

PLASTERERS.
 M'Alister, Hugh, Main street
 M'Alister, John, Causeway street

PLUMBERS AND GASFITTERS.
 Farren, W. J., Main street
 M'Candless, John, Railway place.

SHIP AND BOAT BUILDERS.
 Hopkins, James, Springhill.
 Kelly, James, Springhill

STATIONERY AND FANCY WAREHOUSES.
 Bamford, John, Main street.
 Caskey, J. H., Main street
 Woods, Miss, Main street

SURGEONS.
 Martin, J. C., M.D., Mark street
 Porter, J., Mervue

RESIDENTS IN NEIGHBOURHOOD.
 Beresford, General, J.P., Glenmanus
 Boyle, James, J.P., Ballymacree
 Brownrigg, Q. J., J.P., Mark street
 Cox, Miss H.
 Crookshank, R., Glenmanus
 Dunlop, S. J., J.P., Ballywillan
 Hamilton, Dr., Magherabuoy
 Hamilton, Miss, Rathmore
 Lecky, Harry, Beardville
 Lecky, Hugh, J.P., Beardville
 Moody, Alex., Salisbury terrace
 Ritchie, Rev. Wm., Mark street
 Russell, J. M., Coleraine road
 Watt, F. H., J.P., Westport
 Young, William, J.P., Lisnavarna

PORTSTEWART.

THE Town of Portstewart is situate on the sea shore, midway between Portrush and Coleraine. Historically or commercially it has no pretensions, and cannot lay claim to even a spectral ruin or weekly market. Notwithstanding, the long line of comfortable and substantial dwelling-houses, which afford a charming outlook to the sea, would put to shame those in centres of great commercial industry and progress. The village, it appears, takes its name from a Lieutenant Stewart, who was the first known owner of the estate on which it stands. It is recorded that four little sod cottages, with their gables to the sea, were built by this gentleman, and these formed the commencement of what at present is one of the most charming, salubrious, and popular of Northern health resorts. The first tenants of the cottages, it is said, were four fishermen, whom Mr. Stewart brought with him from Innishowen, and furnished with a boat and lines to enable them to follow their usual avocation, the rent and hire of the boats and lines being fixed at a fish each day, when they were caught, and a day's cutting of turf annually in Roselick Bog. Then, as now, Portstewart belonged to the Cromore estate. After the death of Mr. Stewart the property passed to a Mr. Stafford, and after him to Mr. Cromie, in whose family it still remains, the present owner being Mrs. Cromie, a lady who has done much to promote the happiness and welfare of her tenantry. It is as a health resort that Portstewart justly claims the attention of the wealthy Prince or lowly peasant. In this respect it has few equals, and its quiet and peaceable inhabitants vie with each other in making the temporary home and visits of their patrons as pleasant and as enjoyable as possible. Shut out by nature's bulwarks from the chilly north and withering east winds, visitors can bask in the sunshine during the summer and autumn months among the rocky cliffs, and drink in the pure ozone from the sea, or bathe their languid limbs in its briny waters, which roll up almost to the very doors. To meet the requirements of increasing patronage the owners of houses in the village have within recent years made great improvements, both externally and internally, and the granting of perpetuity leases by the landlady has given a remarkable impetus to the building trade, which, it is believed, will result in the addition of numerous villa residences on a scale even more complete and artistic than any hitherto erected. In addition to the many private houses let for the accommodation of visitors the village is supplied with two commodious hotels, capable of affording comfortable quarters to a large number of patrons. There are also public baths, which are under the efficient management of Mr. M'Ilreavy. Several of the public buildings are worthy of a passing notice. Prominent among these is the fine old Castle, standing on a projecting rock rising one hundred feet above the level of the sea. An addition was put to it by Mr. Henry O'Hara, about fifty years ago, and is at present the occupation of Mrs. Cromie. The Church of Ireland, Clarke Memorial (Methodist), Presbyterian Church, Cromore House, the residence of Mr. R. A. G. Montagu, and Carrig-na-Cule, a handsome and extensive block of buildings, erected some time ago at north end of village, which is being run on popular lines as a private hotel or boarding-house, are among the principal local buildings. A handsome new Roman Catholic Chapel, "Star of the Sea," has been erected on a lovely spot at Heathmount, and although roofed with corrugated iron, its side walls and exterior are splendidly got up, and being under the charge of Rev. Mr. Carroll, P.P., is largely availed of by visitors and residents. Notwithstanding the expenditure of £4,000 towards the making of a breakwater pier, to which Mrs. Cromie subscribed £500, the Board of Works have expended a large sum of money in the